Hi Helen,
 I understand how you feel about your sister. I'd be happy to give you some advice.
 It might be good a idea to talk to your parents about your problem. Why don't you see if they can help you make some rules for your sister to follow? You could also lock your bedroom door. This way your sister won't be able to get into your room to take your things, and with your parents' help she will also see that taking things without asking is wrong.
 I hope things get better soon, and good luck!
 Best wishes,
 Kelly

A terrifying night

Last Summer I was in Greece with my parents and sister. We stayed in a nice villa near the sea.

One evening my parents went for a walk and my sister and I decided to stay in the villa. We were sitting in the living room when suddenly the ground began shaking!

My sister and I started screaming and ran outside. After a few minutes, the earthquake stopped, but we couldn't find our parents anywhere.

An hour later, they came back to the villa. We were relieved to be safe and back together again.

Dear Mr and Mrs Norris,
I'm writing to thank you for your kindness during my stay. You made me feel most welcome.
I enjoyed my time in Cardiff and I really liked visiting Cardiff Castle. Also the meals that you served me were really delicious.
The stay was very helpful for my English. Since I have been home, I really feel more confident with my English and I'm sure I can pass my exams.
Thank you once again for everything. You are always welcome to stay with us in our house.
I hope to see you soon.
Best wishes,
Stefan

Hello Harry,
How are things? You'll never guess what happened to me yesterday! It was really frightening!
I was upstairs in my bedroom when I heard a noise downstairs. My parents were out, so I went to see what it was. There was a burglar in the living room! As soon as he saw me, he climbed out of the window and ran off down the street. It all happened so quickly.
I called the police and I felt so relieved when they arrived. I hope they manage to catch the burglar.

A Great Escape

Last winter I was in Switzerland with my parents and brother. One day we were outside hiking and enjoying the mountains. We were having lunch when the sky grew dark. Suddenly a blizzard hit the area and heavy snow began to fall.

We couldn't see anything and we had to take shelter under large rocks. Two hours later after the snow had stopped, a rescue helicopter arrived and took us to safety.

We felt exhausted, but we were relieved that we weren't hurt.

These days, more and more teenagers are using social networking to communicate. Social networking is clearly helpful for young people, but it also has its disadvantages.

TESTS KEY

The main advantage of social networking is that it's easy to keep in touch. Social networks help teenagers to keep in touch with friends or family who live far away. Another advantage is that it's free as you don't have to pay, unlike phone calls and text messages.

On the other hand, there are serious disadvantages. Social networks can be dangerous if they aren't used carefully. Firstly, people can see your private information and use it to find out about you. Another drawback is that people can pretend to be someone that they're not. As a result, teenagers may not be safe online.

In conclusion, there are advantages and disadvantages when it comes to social networking. I believe that social networking opens up a new world to teenagers provided that they use it in the right way.

Nowadays, many people choose not to eat fruit and vegetables in favour of junk food. There are some benefits to fast food, but in my opinion, a diet high in fruit and vegetables is a good thing.

In the first place, fruit and vegetables provide the vitamins and minerals that our bodies need to stay healthy. Furthermore, many of these vitamins aren't found in junk food naturally.

Secondly, junk food is unhealthy because it's full of additives and preservatives. This means that people become overweight and have health problems.

All things considered, I strongly believe that it is best not to eat too much junk food. We can benefit much more by eating fresh fruit and vegetables.

Every day, we hear about crimes in our community that have been committed by young people. There are too many young people with nothing to do in the evenings, and this leads them to create trouble as a way to entertain themselves. But what can be done about this problem?

A useful suggestion would be to open more youth clubs. This would give young people a place to go and it would mean that less of them would be out on the streets in the evenings.

Another solution could be to provide cheap or free activities so that young people would be able to find other ways to entertain themselves. For example, half-price cinema tickets or free sports lessons would give young people something to do in the evenings.

The problem of youth crime in our community cannot be solved overnight. But by giving young people alternatives ways to entertain themselves, we can reduce the scale of the problem.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to say how disappointed I was with your art gallery which I visited last week. It was not as good as I expected.

Firstly, there were not enough paintings and I felt that it was not worth the entrance fee of £11.50. I expected a larger collection.

Secondly, the gallery was too crowded. There were so many people inside that it was difficult to see the exhibits.

For these reasons, I insist on a full refund of the price of my ticket. I look forward to hearing your response.

Yours faithfully,

Lauren Smith

Dear Sir/Madam,
I am writing to say how dissatisfied we were with the performance which we attended at your theatre last week. It was very disappointing.
Firstly, the ushers were not very polite or helpful. We had to find our own seats and they spoke to us quite rudely.

Secondly, the sound system was not working properly. It was difficult to hear parts of the play and, as a result, we did not enjoy it.

I would appreciate it if the price of our tickets could be refunded. I look forward to hearing your response.

Yours faithfully,

Greg Jones
